FOUR SCHOOL-DESIGNATED FORMS

Before You Write

The supplied workbook contains four worksheets: Application for Admission, Resume, Purpose of Study and Document of Financial Sponsorship. Complete every applicable field truthfully and consistently. Follow the school's instruction on handwriting, signatures, seals and whether the final workbook or printed forms must be used.

Build one master facts sheet first

Before completing any form, write the confirmed passport spelling, addresses, education dates, employment dates, family details, Japanese-study history, immigration history, sponsor information and financial amounts in one place.

Consistency rules

| Field          | Use this source                                 | Common error to avoid                                         |
|----------------|-------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|
| Applicant name | Passport identity page                          | Changing spelling or name order between forms                 |
| Date of birth  | Passport and birth certificate                  | Using a different calendar or transposed month/day            |

| Employment     | Employment certificates                         | Leaving unexplained periods or using an informal company name |
| Sponsor        | Bank, tax, occupation and relationship evidence | Different occupation, address, annual income or relationship  |

WORKSHEET: APPLICATION

Form 1: Application for Admission

Applicant identity and contact

- Katakana: confirm the school's preferred phonetic rendering. Do not invent it independently if unsure.
- Alphabet name: copy the passport exactly and preserve family-name and given-name order.
- Nationality, sex, birth date, marital status, occupation, email, telephone and current address must match evidence.
- Starting term: identify the exact April or October intake and year.

Passport and visa location

- Record passport number and validity exactly.
- For country of visa application, normally state Nepal when the applicant will apply through VFS in Nepal. Confirm if the applicant is legally applying elsewhere.

Family, education and relatives in Japan

- List family members with full names, relationship, date of birth, occupation and address.
- For final educational background, use the exact official school name, town and admission/graduation month and year.
- Disclose relatives in Japan truthfully, including workplace or school and residence-card information when requested.

Financial sponsor

- Use the sponsor's exact legal name, home and office telephone, address, occupation and relationship to the student.
- Sign and date only after all information is checked. Never pre-sign a blank form.

WORKSHEET: RESUME

Form 2: Resume

Japanese study and ability

List each Japanese-language school or course with location and exact admission and completion dates. Record test name, level and score exactly as printed on the certificate.

Education history

List education from elementary school through the latest completed or current school. Dates should normally form a continuous timeline. If the education system or academic calendar creates an apparent gap, attach a short factual explanation.

Employment history

List employment in chronological order using official company names, towns and start/end months. The worksheet's English note says "Most Recent List," but the Japanese instruction asks for employment-date order. Use a consistent chronological order and follow any later school instruction.

Japan travel and immigration applications

- Disclose previous entry and departure dates, status of residence and purpose.
- Disclose all prior Japanese immigration applications and outcomes.
- If an application was refused, explain the reason and provide evidence showing what has changed.

Criminal history

Answer for Japan and every other country. If yes, describe the matter accurately. Do not omit an event because it seems minor.

Do not hide gaps or refusals

A short, documented explanation is safer than a timeline that conflicts with official records. Ask the school before submitting any sensitive explanatory statement.

WORKSHEET: PURPOSE OF STUDY

Form 3: Purpose of Study

The reason statement should sound like the student, contain verifiable facts and connect past study to the Japanese-language course and a realistic next step. The form declares that it is handwritten and true, so confirm whether the school requires the applicant to write the final version by hand.

Recommended structure

1*Background

Briefly explain education, work or personal experience relevant to the decision to study Japanese.

2*Why Japanese and why now

State the practical academic or career need for Japanese and the reason this intake is appropriate.

3*Why this school and Osaka

Refer to the course, vocational-school guidance, learning philosophy or location. Avoid generic praise.

4*Study plan

Explain how the student will improve Japanese, maintain attendance and prepare for the next school or career step.

5*Plan after graduation

Select work in Japan only if eligible under the form note, further study in Japan, return home, or another truthful plan. Add school/major or occupation details where requested.

Writing standards

- Use specific facts rather than slogans.
- Do not promise guaranteed employment, high wages or remittances.
- Do not copy another student's essay or use a story the student cannot explain at an interview.
- Make the plan consistent with age, qualifications, Japanese level and funding.

WORKSHEET: SPONSORSHIP

Form 4: Financial Sponsorship

Reason for taking responsibility

Explain the sponsor's relationship to the student, why the sponsor supports this study plan, and how the sponsor has the ability to pay. Use facts that are supported by relationship, occupation, income, tax and bank documents.

Amounts and payment method

| Form field                | How to complete it                                                                                                      |
|---------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| School fee annually       | Use the school's current invoice or written fee instruction. Do not guess from an old brochure if a new invoice exists. |
| Living expenses per month | Use a realistic amount that covers rent, food, utilities, phone, transport, insurance and personal needs.               |
| Method of defrayal        | Select transfer to the student account, transfer to the school account, or other, as actually planned.                  |
| Sponsor details           | Use the exact address, telephone, legal name, signature/seal and relationship shown in evidence.                        |

Renewal evidence matters

The form states that remittance certificates or the student's bank passbook may be submitted when renewing the period of stay. The sponsor and student should therefore retain transfer receipts and account records throughout the study period.

Financial consistency test

- Annual tuition plus 12 months of living costs must be consistent with the sponsor's stated commitment.
- The sponsor's annual income and accumulated savings must plausibly support that commitment.
- The bank balance must reconcile with transaction history and any large deposits must have source evidence.
- Do not include expected student part-time income as the main funding source.
